

Information note on cookies

The use of the website www.itlgroup.hu involves the sending of cookies and similar devices to the user's computer.

For this reason, with this document, ITL Group Kft. (head office: Budapest, Váci utca 81.), Data manager provides information to users of the website about the cookies used and similar systems that are allowed to be installed.

What are the cookies?

Cookies are small-size data files sent by the user-visited websites to the user's computer (usually to the browser) where they become saved, to be resent to the same websites later on during the next browsing activity of the same user.

We distinguish between session cookies (used solely for the purpose of transmitting the communication to an electronic communications network or within strictly prescribed limits, exclusively to the person providing the service requested), performance cookies (designed to create user profiles and used to send advertising messages via the Internet according to the preferences shown by the user during the visits).

During the visit, the user's computer may also receive cookies sent by other websites or web servers (see also third-party "cookies") and which are set up by the operators of those websites, and are used for the purposes and in the way specified by such persons.

The type of cookies used on this website

The website uses third-party session cookies and performance cookies.

Session cookies

Requesting permission is not mandatory for session cookies. They are small, temporarily stored information designed to support search and the use of websites.

Third-party performance cookies

At www.itlgroup.hu, some cookies generated by third parties and performance cookies have been installed which become activated by clicking on the "OK" button in the browser or track the visitor during browsing by scrolling.

Below is a detailed description of the third-party cookies and the links through which the user can receive more information or request the deactivation of cookies.

Google Analytics

The website uses Google Analytics. This is a web analytics service provided by Google Inc. ("Google"). It uses the cookies installed on the user's computer to allow for statistical analyses of the use of the website visited, in an aggregate form.

Data generated by Google Analytics also through the use of the IP addresses of the user will be retained by Google as indicated in the Information Note available at the following link: <https://developers.google.com/analytics/devguides/collection/analyticsjs/cookie-usage>
